The International Business team at Vandeventer Black services the needs of international investors seeking to locate operations in or trade with the United States, and U.S. companies setting up operations internationally or engaging in international trade. The group is composed of immigration, corporate, tax, and commercial attorneys experienced in international transactions and trade.

Depending upon the individual needs of the client, an integrated program of strategic advice regarding appropriate corporate vehicles, tax advantage planning for multinational operations, site acquisitions zoning exceptions, and immigration requirements for executives and employees is provided in a clear, cohesive, and cost-effective program. The group handles matters for businesses ranging in size from small partnerships to Fortune 500 companies who are engaged in international trade. Examples of completed projects are available on request.
